One Day at a Time

Climbing Slievenamon last Monday I was reflecting on these young men walking with me on their last day in Secondary School. It brings to an end a significant period in their lives and the opening of a further time of study or apprenticeships. I wish them well and hope they make good choices. The really important thing for all of us is to appreciate the gifts we have received and the people who have helped us to move on. Thinking back I am intrigued by the little things and significant people who have touched our lives. It is a very valuable exercise to review, reflect and note who and where and when – to make out a litany of thanks. In these events and people, God has blessed us.

Appreciating the fine weather, the singing of the birds, the scent of the new mown hay and the blossoms bedecking the countryside leads me to a sense of wonder and awe. We are so fortunate to live in this beautiful part of the world. Let's not take it for granted. We have health and strength to live our lives simply and happily. To take one day at a time, and be grateful for and appreciative of each other's gifts and talents. Thank You Lord – Fr. Jim
